

Peer Review

→ Individual Brainstorming Work

→ Peers will review your outlines and ask questions about your order and offer suggestions for making your argument and structural reasoning clearer

→ Reflect

Meet with your partner:

- Share your claim
- Explain how you will communicate this claim and in what order (reference your outline)
- Ask them for help with ideas that don't seem to fit

Peers:

- > Tell them when the idea doesn't make sense.
- > Tell them when you need textual evidence.
- > Tell them when the transition needs to be more specific.

Reflect

What did this experience teach you about writing? Was it easy to plan ahead? Did you need to write more to discover the relationships? Were you able to see a digression? Could you see how to balance your ideas - which ideas need more space? Could you throw out ideas that didn't find a place in your outline?
